

Jordans Forest School – Our Ethos & Aims

Individual, Community, Environment

Jordans Forest School will seek to provide a fun, all-weather*, learner-centred experience. Participants will have the time and opportunity to build a relationship with their natural environment, whilst engaging in activities and challenges which support and enhance their own individual development.

Our school core values of courage and kindness will be central to our Forest School. It will be a place where our children can be “courageous” as they try new things, explore, take well-managed risks and learn new skills. Our sessions will also support children in being “kind”, as they share ideas, communicate, work collaboratively, share resources and share the natural environment with each other and nature.

Forest School will support the development of the whole child. As they make choices to direct their play and experience success through engaging in small, motivating, achievable tasks, they will grow in self-confidence and self-esteem.

We will endeavour to inspire and nurture a community of happy, resilient learners who will enjoy and protect our natural woodland environment.

* Sessions will run all year round and in all weathers except high wind, thunder or lightening (for safety reasons).
